

A rectangular box on the right side of the page, containing a form. It features two small square checkboxes, one on the left and one on the right, positioned horizontally. Below these checkboxes are four horizontal lines, stacked vertically, providing space for text or data entry. The entire form area is enclosed in a black border.